“ Dear Kim and Phillip I just notice in the paper the passing of your father. He and my dad had a number of business dealings through out the years. It was my father's honor to do business with your dad. My father enjoyed very much his association with your dad. He was always pleasant and honest to deal with. Glen was one of the quiet builders of this community. Not only construction wise, but he was always helping and giving his services where ever he could. The world could use alot more Glen Wrights. I count it a blessing to have had your father as role model of a good citizen. My condelence.

“ Dear Kim, Phil and families: Sorry to read about your Dad in the paper. As you know, I have many fond memories of both Glen and Ruth. I remember as a 10/11 year old \"helping\" your Dad, mine, Merrill and others build the addition to the house. He was very tolerant and a good instructor. I listened to him (but not my Dad!). My other memories involve watching pro football on his TV (we had none) and both your parents assisting me to make/break dates on the CB radio. All for a gallon of milk a week! Wow, do I miss them and those times. Now Glen and Ruth are together again, the way it should be. They will dwell in the house of the Lord, forever.

“Dear Wright families, My deepest condolences on the passing of your patriarch. Glenn Wright was a good and noble man, someone to admire and aspire to be like. I met him through his granddaughter, Kyanne, and Wright family friend, Natasha Shealy. We ate dinner with Glenn one evening-- he was a very interesting person, sharing tales of long ago. He had a keen outlook on people, a fine sense of humor, and despite his advanced years, was livelier and more in tune to things than many people half his age. He had great love for his family. He was an important character in Verde Valley history, and he will live on in the memories of all who knew him. I feel very fortunate to have met the man. I am sure he and his beloved Ruth now watch over you all from above. Peace to you. Ellen Roberts Clarkdale
